Evers commends governor for his support of public education

Statement by State Superintendent Tony Evers on Gov. Jim Doyle's State of the State address

MADISON—State Superintendent Tony Evers issued the following statement regarding Governor Jim Doyle's State of the State Address.

“Governor Doyle understands that Wisconsin’s economic future is built with a strong education system. Wisconsin has great schools, great educators, great parents, and great students. And while we have nation leading graduation rates and college entrance exam scores, we know we must do more to ensure every child graduates with the knowledge and skills needed to be successful in their careers or college. The Governor has consistently put the needs of our children first, supporting quality early childhood education programs, small class sizes and school breakfast programs. He knows the investments Wisconsin makes in programs that help us increase graduation rates, reduce achievement gaps, and help our teachers and principals become the most effective educators they can be will always bring positive returns to communities throughout Wisconsin.

“I want to thank Governor Doyle and First Lady Jessica Doyle not just for their leadership in moving education reforms forward, but for their long-standing support for our children and schools.”
