Subject: No-Cost Professional Learning Available Via LinkedIn Learning

LinkedIn Learning will again be available to all educators employed by public school districts and independent charter schools to support professional learning at no cost.

Educators currently employed in public school districts and independent charter schools in Wisconsin can sign up to access LinkedIn Learning's vast library of professional learning to support their continuous professional development.

The LinkedIn Learning library can support Wisconsin public school educators looking to expand their skills or support their educator effectiveness goals. Professional and technical skills ranging from project management to coding, to creative skills like song writing and photography are available. Many courses offer certificates or certificate preparation. Courses are also available related to current technology trends, communication skills, and instructional techniques. There is no limit to the number of courses an educator may take.

More information about LinkedIn Learning for public school educators can be found on our website. Interested educators can follow this link to sign up.
