

Tom Martin

Business, Marketing, and Information Technology
State Superintendent Advisory Council

School to Work Coordinator for CESA 3

“Business and its related studies are a universal language of the world. The ability to translate it whether based on theory or practice speaks highly of one to be successful in the openly global economy.”

