

Compilation of DPI published links and resources.
Click on the images in the left column to get to the links.

Equity Our agency's work reminds us of the importance of equity in ensuring every child has a high-quality education, and it is imperative equity be our priority at the Department of Public Instruction (DPI). At DPI, educational equity means... That every student has access to the educational resources and rigor they need at the right moment in their education, across race, gender, ethnicity, language, disability, sexual orientation, family background, and/or family income.	DPI Equity definition and resources.
	RtI Center Site with resources for Culturally Responsive Practices.
	PEFA - Promoting Excellence for All online e-course highlighting strategies to close the achievement gap.
	DPI Embracing Equity e-Course.
	Equity Decision &amp; Policy Tool.
Equity Decision and Policy Tool	Equity Decision &amp; Policy Tool e-course

Compilation of DPI published links and resources.
Click on the images in the left column to get to the links.

Perspectives on Equity Series

What is the Perspectives on Equity Series?

The Perspectives on Equity Series is designed to support open dialogue about racial, cultural, and physically-based inequities that impact our work at DPI, the field of education, and beyond. The series uses speakers, videos, and books facilitate a rich discussion at DPI. Participation in the Perspective Series events is voluntary.

The Perspectives on Equity Series is designed to support open dialogue about racial, cultural, and physically-based inequities that impact our work at DPI, the field of education, and beyond. The series uses speakers, videos, and books facilitate a rich discussion at DPI.