(Working on the Work)

Building Assessment & Data Literacy

Working on the Work (WOW) is a professional development series sponsored by DPI to support school-based teams of educators working to deepen understanding and develop strategies around implementation of Wisconsin Educator Effectiveness.

Registration for WOW is FREE.
Contact your local CESA for more information.

Plan to join us for 4 full days of high-impact professional development featuring nationally recognized experts in the field of Strategic Assessment.

Continuing Education credits available.

Collaboration with our district [WOW] team has helped us share ideas, examine our practices, and sharpen our focus."

— Gary Pszeniczny, Principal, Altoona, WI

"WOW has provided support for teachers and reinforced the importance of quality coaching conversations."

— Katie Deboer, Racine Unified School District Instructional Coach

What a Line-up!

Teams choose one date for each speaker.

Aug 18 or 19, 2016: Eric Twadell
Setting the Stage

Eric Twadell will set the stage for this year's WOW by engaging participants in discussion around the importance of collaborative data use and a strategic assessment process throughout the school year. This session will focus on reigniting the passion & energy for data-driven instruction.

Oct 10 or 11, 2016: Chris Jakicic
Leveraging Formative Assessment

Chris will help us focus on formative practices driving the critical questions, "Where are my students at right now?" and "What do they need next?" Chris will provide guidance around the use of formative practice to monitor student progress and drive instructional decisions.

Jan 31 or Feb 1, 2017: Tim Brown
Student Engagement in the Assessment Process

Tim Brown will explore the purpose and process of using data from formative practices to provide high quality feedback to students, emphasizing the importance of student participation in the formative process.

Apr 26 or 27, 2017: Mike Mattos
What's Next?

Mike Mattos will help educators reflect on their learning from WOW to determine the professional practices, systems, processes, and resources necessary to sustain and improve upon their continuous cycle of improvement and/or school improvement plan.

Recommended team size is 4-12. Multiple district teams are welcome if space allows. The WOW professional development series is Educator Effectiveness model-neutral.
