REPORT ON THE STATUS OF BILINGUAL-BICULTURAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS IN WISCONSIN
SUBCHAPTER VII of CHAPTER 115,
WISCONSIN STATUTES,
SCHOOL YEARS 2010-2011 and 2011-12

Background

Under Section 115.996, Wisconsin Statutes, the state superintendent is required to report to the legislature on the status of bilingual-bicultural education programs funded under this authority. This report provides the specific information required by law for the 2010-2011 and 2011-12 school years (paid during FYs 2012 and 2013).

Wisconsin school district personnel view Chapter 115, Subchapter VII, Wisconsin Statutes, as very important. It provides partial but critical funding for student populations whose language education needs must be served. The department's federally funded (Title III, No Child Left Behind) bilingual/English as a second language (ESL) education program staff provided extensive technical assistance, disseminated materials statewide, provided regional staff development activities, and conducted training for local bilingual/ESL program administrators and teachers.

The number of limited-English proficient (LEP) pupils continues to grow in Wisconsin (of 424 districts in the 2010-11 school year, 347 or about 82% of all districts enrolled at least one LEP pupil; with 353 or about 83% in the 2011-12 school year). The number of districts enrolling LEP pupils also continues to grow, though many of these districts do not meet the statutory threshold to be eligible for state aid. The number of aided districts has also grown, as well as the cost of serving LEP pupils, resulting in a diminishing per pupil rate of reimbursement annually as available funding is spread over a growing population.

The state superintendent has requested increases in the bilingual-bicultural aid as part of the department's biennial budget request for several years. In the 2009-11 biennial budget, the governor reduced the appropriation by 1% and the legislature by 2.5% for an overall reduction of 3.5%. The resulting FY11 appropriation was sufficient to reimburse 59 districts at a rate of 8.0020%. The resulting FY12 appropriation was sufficient to reimburse 59 districts at a rate of 8.33248%. While there was a slight increase in the rate of reimbursement for the 2011-12 school year, it was not significant and mostly due to many districts extending program cuts to those serving LEP students. In the long run, this could have a negative effect on the time it takes students to become proficient in English and reach academic achievement. With the appropriation cut an additional 10% in the 2011-13 biennium, and districts' LEP enrollments and costs increasing, the amount of reimbursement available to districts will continue to fall.

Languages/Program Locations

Statewide, approximately 14% of districts reporting LEP pupils have the language concentration numbers as set forth in state statute from at least one language population, and provide the appropriate staff, to be eligible to receive state bilingual-bicultural categorical aids. Approximately 56% of the English language learners in the state are served in these state reimbursed districts.

The following chart contains demographics from the March 2011 and March 2012 Census of Limited-English Proficient Students, as well as the number of students and the language populations served in bilingual-bicultural program districts during 2010-2011 and 2011-12.

Beginning with the 2006 implementation of ACCESS for ELLs™ (Assessing Comprehension and Communication in English State-to-State for English Language Learners¹), the new English language proficiency (ELP) assessment meeting No Child Left Behind (NCLB) criteria, much of the data are collected via the test booklet and stored in the ISES (Individual Student Enrollment System). The annual census includes counts based on the data by district and by language that are pulled from ACCESS results. Also included are those ELLs who do not have a composite ACCESS score, but have an ELP level in the ISES.

Program Costs for Categorically Aided District Programs

Originally, the appropriation from the state legislature was divided evenly among districts so that each received the same percentage of reimbursement for their approved expenditures. In 1999 Wisconsin Act 9 (the biennial budget), $250,000 was set aside from the bilingual-bicultural appropriation. This set-aside was to be divided proportionally among school districts whose enrollments in the previous school year were at least 15% limited-English proficient students. The remainder of the appropriation was divided evenly among all the districts according to their approved total budgets. This same formula continues through the current fiscal year. Ten districts are eligible for this set-aside.

The chart below illustrates the various levels of spending by the categorically aided districts during the 2010-2011 school year. Program costs vary from district to district due to, but not limited to:

- Number of students served and the impact on cost effectiveness;
- English-language proficiency level of students and range of proficiency levels among students in a classroom;
- Amount of previous schooling of LEP students;
- Staff/student ratio (both teacher/student and bilingual aide/student);
- Amount of instructional contact time;
- Instructional resources provided, e.g., texts, equipment, technology, native language materials/assessments;
- Type of program, such as in-class vs. pull-out programs;
- Cultural differences in learning;
- Degree of parental involvement, which, for LEP students, includes providing a home environment rich in the native language; and,
- Outreach and services to LEP students, immigrant children and youth, or refugee families.

² Note: The reimbursement for all districts is determined after the set aside amount ($250,000) is subtracted from the appropriation. The remaining appropriation is divided among the districts based on each district's approved costs. Those districts with LEP enrollments equal to at least 15% of their student enrollment receive a percentage of the set-aside. For the 2010-11 school year, only Beloit, Delavan-Darien, Green Bay, Lake Geneva J1, Madison, Menasha, Sheboygan, Walworth J1, Wausau, and Whitewater qualified.

As mentioned above, a key point to remember is that not all districts qualify for state categorical aid, and those that do qualify enroll both eligible LEP students, those who meet the criteria in the statute to generate aids, and non-eligible LEP students, those who do not meet the criteria. The table that follows includes numbers for both "eligible" and "non-eligible" LEP students. The data in the census report do not account for students arriving in districts between the annual census and the following September.

The department collects data as required by state and federal law. These include data on:

- The numbers of LEP students as identified by Wisconsin school districts, and,
- The numbers of LEP students served under the bilingual-bicultural statute.

Data are not collected on the number of LEP students not served or underserved. For a history of aided and non-aided districts, and the numbers of students identified, please see the chart below.

³ Note: The reimbursement for all districts is determined after the set aside amount ($250,000) is subtracted from the appropriation. The remaining appropriation is divided among the districts based on each district's approved costs. Those districts with LEP enrollments equal to at least 15% of their student enrollment receive a percentage of the set-aside. For the 2010-11 school year, only Beloit, Delavan-Darien, Green Bay, Lake Geneva J1, Madison, Menasha, Sheboygan, Walworth J1, Wausau, and Whitewater qualified.

Historical Profile: Fully English Proficient Students

The statistics presented below trace the history of bilingual education in Wisconsin from the 1977-78 school year, the first year to implement the statute, to the present. Data include the number of students served in programs receiving categorical aid and numbers of students from these programs who became fully English proficient during the school year reported.

The first state census of limited-English speaking students was conducted in March of 1977⁸. A total of 6,055 students were identified in 46 districts. A total of 50 languages other than English were reported. However these included some that would not be considered a language in a current count, for example: "Chinese;" "Indian;" or "Iran-Pharsi."

The first report to the state legislature on bilingual-bicultural programs included data on eight districts eligible for categorical aids under the criteria included in the statute. The ⁴ Data regarding the types of services received, if any, are not collected for "non-eligible" LEP students; most of these students are being served in second language acquisition programs.

⁶ As mentioned earlier, this count appears low because it does not include most LEP migrant students or LEP students in PK.

⁷ Data collected by "regular" school year and summer school, resulted in some duplication of counts. Because individual student data were not collected, there is no way of determining where duplication exists. In other places on this report, the sum of the two is used. Here, both are used and the "balance" is between the number of LEP/ELL students counted on the census and the number served during the "regular" school year.

⁸ The statute originally referred to limited-English speaking (LES) students and was later changed to limited-English proficient (LEP) students. For students to achieve academically, they need to be proficient in all four modalities of language (listening, speaking, reading, and writing), and the change in terms reflects this understanding.

report indicates that a total of 2,200 "LES" students were served in the eight districts. Of these, 2,170 were Spanish speakers and the remaining 30 were Vietnamese speakers. Both the total number of eligible students and the number of districts eligible for bilingual-bicultural categorical aid have grown significantly in the subsequent years. However, reimbursement is at a significantly lower percentage of approved costs.

Accountability: Current Major Focus – English Language Development Standards and English Language Proficiency Assessments

Wisconsin, working with the WIDA⁹ consortium of states (Alabama, Alaska, Delaware, Washington DC Public Schools, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont, Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming), has produced a comprehensive series of English language proficiency standards that meet NCLB requirements and reflect best practice for ELLs. The core standards guide development of English language proficiency (ELP) test specifications and subsequent test item development. ACCESS for ELLs™, the ELP test, was piloted in spring 2004, with field testing in fall 2004, and final roll-out in Wisconsin beginning in December 2005.

The core standards focus on measurable performance objectives and address the four domains of listening, speaking, reading, and writing. They are also linked to academic standards from all the consortium states in English language arts, reading, math, science, and social studies.

The core standards were initially drafted in May 2003. Early in 2004, additional versions of the ELP standards were issued that build upon the foundation of the core standards. These expanded versions are being used in staff development efforts within WIDA states. The expanded ELP standards are arranged for curriculum planners, administrators, and teachers to facilitate their usefulness as planning documents. They will include additional standards or objectives linked to states' standards that may not be amenable to large-scale assessment, such as procedural knowledge and learning strategies objectives.

The WIDA Consortium recently developed English language development (ELD) standards that were released for the 2012-13 school year and used in conjunction with the 2007 edition of the ELP standards. A national panel of experts convened by WIDA worked to connect the 2007 ELP standards to various national standards. Features of the 2012 ELD standards include:

- Complementary strands by grade level with connections to national standards in topics not included in state academic assessments (e.g., National Physical Education Standards).
- Amplified strands by grade level with connections to Common Core State Standards.
- Inclusion of a cognitive function, example contexts for language use, and, topic-related language that are the same for students at all levels of English proficiency.
- Inclusion of linguistic complexity, language forms and conventions, and vocabulary usage dependent on the level of English proficiency.

⁹The consortium was named "WIDA" for the three original consortium members: Wisconsin, Delaware, and Arkansas. As the consortium continued to grow, WIDA was changed to mean: Worldclass Instructional Design and Assessment.
