I believe every person should prepare for a useful occupation and carry on that occupation in a manner that brings the greatest good to the greatest number.

I believe every person should actively work toward improving social, political, community and family life.

I believe every person has the right to earn a living at a useful occupation.

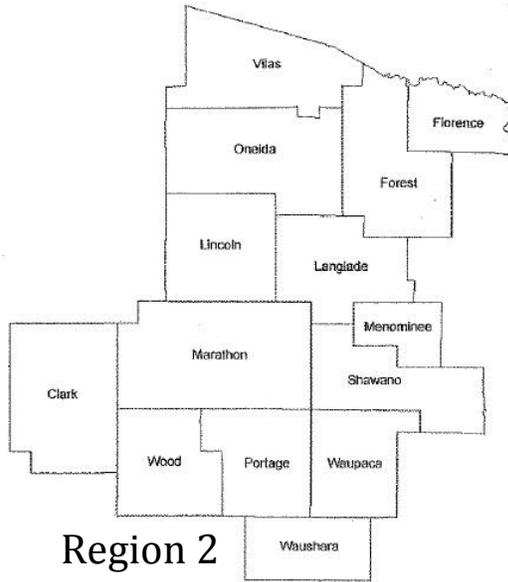

I believe every person should take responsibility for carrying out assigned tasks in a manner that brings credit to self, associates, school and community.

I believe I have the responsibility to work efficiently and to think clearly. I promise to use my abilities to make the world a better place for everyone.

FBLA Relationship to Business Education

Career and technical student organizations (CTSO) are an integral part of career and technical education. Being an integral part means CTSOs are tools of instruction which reinforce through activities what the student learns in the classroom and/or on the job. Integrated chapter activities improve the effectiveness of every educational program and help the student become more prepared to make the transition from school to work and/or postsecondary education.

CTSOs, classroom instruction and/or supervised occupational experiences are components in the total comprehensive and applied career and technical program and should be directly related to one another.

Classroom instruction involves the organized presentation and application of knowledge, skills and attitudes. Supervised occupational experiences require the individual student to apply in an actual work setting the knowledge, skills and attitudes acquired through classroom instruction. CTSO activities are part of classroom instruction and supervised occupational experiences. Integrated chapter activities improve and tie together the existing curriculum.

CTSOs make teaching more effective by providing invaluable experiences in group dynamics that enable students to accept themselves within the total group situation. Chapter activities can also provide for the development of leadership, development of a dignity for work, promotion of standards of excellence, encouragement of broader educational experiences and encouragement of cooperative efforts. In addition, student organizations provide motivation toward the development of skills through the use of techniques such as competitive events, recognition events and awards programs.

FBLA-PBL Fact Sheet

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA-PHI BETA LAMBDA is a non-profit career and technical student organization interested in or preparing for careers in business or business education. It is composed of three divisions: FBLA at the middle and secondary level, PBL at the post-secondary and college level and Professional. There are approximately 235,000 active members in over 6,200 chartered chapters across the nation.

FBLA gives students the chance to learn, first hand, about the business community as they prepare to become a part of it by developing competencies. They learn to lead and participate actively in group discussions, preside at meetings and conferences, work effectively within teams and engage in practical problem-solving and decision-making.

Chapter advisers and advisory committees—composed of school officials, appropriate businesspersons and other community representatives—help students become more aware of the intricacies of the American free enterprise system, global competition and interdependence and how it affects their lives in the present and future.

Projects involving FBLA-PBL members include professional, civic, service, career development and social awareness activities. State advisers help to coordinate the numerous chapter activities. They, in turn, report to the national association headquarters in Reston, Virginia, outside Washington, D.C. Headed by the President and Chief Executive Officer (Jean M. Buckley), the national staff works to help chapters and advisers and acts as liaison among student organizations, professional and business organizations and government agencies.

Since competition is recognized as a major part of the free enterprise system, FBLA-PBL sponsors a National Leadership Conference (NLC) which begins with competition at the local, regional and state levels. Inter- and intra-chapter warm-ups prepare members for the NLC, which emphasizes individual and team effort with awards for those who excel in both.

FBLA-PBL is financed almost entirely by dues and local chapter fundraising. Donations and grants also play an important part.

Publications supplied include Tomorrow's Business Leader, a student-oriented magazine; FBLA Adviser's Hotline, a newsletter for advisers; program packets with suggested projects to be developed at the local level; and an organizational manual. In addition, billboards, posters and brochures are included in supplemental materials provided by the national office.

The FBLA concept was developed in 1937 by Hamden L. Forkner of Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City. In 1940 FBLA became a part of the national Council for Business Education. The first chapter, in Johnson City, Tennessee, began in 1942.

Career and Technical Student Organizations

The Department of Public Instruction recognizes the following career and technical student organizations:

SECONDARY LEVEL

DECA prepares emerging leaders and entrepreneurs for careers in marketing, finance, hospitality and management in high schools and colleges around the globe.

FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) mission is to bring business and education together in a positive working relationship through innovative leadership and career development programs. Co-curricular activities for high school students include career exploration, civic service, economic education and fostering entrepreneurship.

FCCLA (Family, Career and Community Leaders of America) mission is to promote personal growth and leadership development through Family and Consumer Sciences education. Focusing on the multiple roles of family member, wage earner and community leader, members develop skills for life through: character development, creative and critical thinking, interpersonal communication, practical knowledge, and career preparation.

WISCONSIN
ASSOCIATION OF FFA

FFA (An Association of Agriculture Students) is dedicated to making a positive difference in the lives of young people by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education.

HOSA: Future Health Professionals provides opportunities for secondary and post-secondary students to plan and participate in educational experiences that prepare them for careers in the health care professions. Involvement in HOSA showcases the application of classroom knowledge and technical skill attainment while implementing communication skills, leadership development, and community service.

SkillsUSA is a partnership of students, teachers and industry representatives, working together to ensure America has a skilled work force. It helps each student excel. SkillsUSA is a national nonprofit organization serving teachers and high school and college students who are preparing for careers in trade, technical and skilled service occupations, including health occupations. It was formerly known as VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America).

Cooperation and involvement with other career and technical student organizations can enhance local chapter activities while promoting the common goals of these organizations. The following list may give your chapter members some ideas for planning activities.

1. Share in transportation and attendance at workshops and leadership labs.
2. Co-sponsor professional workshops for the community or school. Use special skills of the various CTSO's members in order to integrate curriculum competencies in the planning and implementation activities.
3. Share in the construction and cost of building parade floats or school display materials.
4. Co-sponsor a "career night" for all students. Point out the interdependence found in the "real world" of work.
5. Co-sponsor an awards night for "non-athletic organizations."
6. Participate together in community service projects (i.e., March of Dimes, Muscular Dystrophy, Needy Families, etc.)
7. Cooperate in developing a plan to welcome new students to your school, providing them with information that will make them feel welcome and know more about your FBLA chapter.
8. Share in projects for people in need.
9. Work on professional workshops/in-services together; along with technical college organizations.
10. Publicize curriculum projects and corresponding chapter activities during Career and Technical Education Week in February.

POST-SECONDARY LEVEL

Business education students have the opportunity to continue their involvement in a vocational student organization at the post-secondary level. Wisconsin recognizes the following organizations:

Phi Beta Lambda (PBL)--oriented to business occupations for college or university students

Business Professionals of America (BPA)--oriented to business occupations for vocational or technical school students

Local FBLA chapters are encouraged to utilize the expertise of the members of the post-secondary career and technical student organizations. Some suggestions are listed below.

1. Invite members to participate as speakers, judges, panelists, mentors, counselors, consultants, evaluators, etc.
2. Share the sponsorship of service projects.
3. Participate in competitive events sponsored by these chapters.
4. Co-sponsor professional level activities.
5. Arrange a tour of a post-secondary campus.
6. Ask members to serve as advisory committee members.
7. Work together on innovative and integrated activities, i.e., set up computer networks between classrooms, establish joint budgets for specific activities, fundraise jointly, etc.
8. Hold joint alumni meetings.

FBLA Leadership Conferences

REGIONAL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE (RLC)

Wisconsin is divided into seven regions with Regional Leadership Conferences being held each year the first Saturday in February. These conferences are hosted by the regional vice presidents who were elected at the previous Regional Leadership Conferences. Middle level regional events will be coordinated on an annual basis separately from the high school events.

Attendance at these conferences is not limited. The conferences include competitive events, election of regional vice presidents, a general session, special-interest sectionals and an awards program.

After a chapter has been chartered by the national office, a copy of the current year's "Competitive Events Guidelines" is mailed to the adviser by the state office. Specific information concerning all competitive events and the number of contestants advancing to the State Leadership Conference are included in these guidelines.

NATIONAL FALL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE (NFLC)

Students and advisers participate in motivational general sessions, professional development, and career planning workshops. For many FBLA-PBL members, the NFLCs are a convenient and affordable way to experience much of the education and excitement of an NLC closer to home.

WISCONSIN FALL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE (WFLC)

The Wisconsin Fall Leadership Conference is typically held when the NFLC is not located in the immediate proximity of Wisconsin. The conference consists of general sessions, special-interest sessions, banquet, tours of various industries in the area and other planned activities that parallel the SLC conference experience.

STATE LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE (SLC)

The State Leadership Conference is a two-day conference held each year in April. The first- through third-place winners from each Regional Leadership Conference may participate in the competitive events at the state level. The first-place through fourth-place winners in all events with a national counterpart are eligible to advance to the National Leadership Conference.

In addition to the competitive events, the conference includes business meetings, election of officers, special-interest sectionals, awards program, installation of state officers and other planned activities.

Attendance at the State Leadership Conference is limited; consult the guidelines for specific details.

NATIONAL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE (NLC)

The National Leadership Conference is held during the summer months in a major selected city in the United States. All advisers and members are eligible to attend. The state office is NOT responsible for travel, housing and other expenses associated with attending the National Leadership Conference. A state housing block profile will be set through the FBLA-PBL, Inc national office prior to the National Leadership Conference.

FBLA-PBL members have the competitive edge, as the best and brightest of FBLA and PBL convene to compete in leadership events, share their successes, and learn new ideas about shaping their career future through workshops and exhibits. This four-day conference is considered the pinnacle of the FBLA-PBL experience, especially for those running for national office. FBLA-PBL has forged partnerships with industry leaders to underwrite competitive events and scholarships for students achieving national ranking.

* * * * *

At all leadership conferences, advisory committee members and other community businesspersons provide leadership and serve as resource people for the special interest sectionals. Attending teacher(s), who serve as local chapter advisers, will receive professional development focused on topics related to Business & Information Technology, Career & Technical Education, and FBLA.

HOW TO START A CHAPTER

The steps for starting or reactivating an FBLA chapter are basically the same. The first thing you should do is learn all you can about the organization. There are a variety of sources available. If you were previously involved as an FBLA or Phi Beta Lambda member, your experiences will be beneficial.

1. Obtain Information

Contact the FBLA state office in Madison or the national office in Reston, Virginia and indicate your desire to start a chapter. You will receive a packet containing membership information and forms required of your chapter. You can also contact a nearby local chapter adviser, who will be more than willing to help you start your chapter. The state office can supply you with a list of names of all the advisers in your local area.

2. Become Enthusiastic

After you have studied all available information, the next step should be very easy. Be an enthusiastic role model! When you realize how much FBLA can do for your students, your business education department, your school, your community and yourself as adviser, you will be enthusiastic. Enthusiasm is an important part of any FBLA program—you will find that it is quite contagious. In order to have your students, administration and fellow business education teachers become enthusiastic, you must show your enthusiasm.

3. Discuss FBLA with Other Business Teachers and Administration

The next step is to work with the other business teachers in your school to start a chapter. You may find that some of them will wish to serve as co-advisers or offer their services for future projects. Remind them that FBLA is an important and integral part of the total business education program and ask for their support as you approach the administration to start your chapter.

In order to have a successful FBLA program, you will need not only the permission of your administration but their support as well! Before you approach them, be sure you are well organized, knowledgeable and enthusiastic. Be sure to explain to them the added publicity and positive student response neighboring schools are receiving because of their FBLA chapters.

4. Inform Business Students of FBLA

Invite business students who can serve as the nucleus of your chapter. Choose students who are potential leaders. When explaining FBLA to these students, utilize all available resources. Invite FBLA members from another chapter to discuss the purposes and activities of FBLA. Generate strong interest and commitment in this nucleus, since they will be the catalyst for encouraging other students to be active members.

This nucleus, in groups of two or three, should then visit other classes. This is one time that you will need the support of the other teachers in your school. While visiting the classes, the students might distribute a student-prepared handout including the purposes, special projects, competitive events and other activities of FBLA. The excitement from the nucleus will radiate enthusiasm to the other students. The time and place of an organizational meeting should be announced and all students should be invited.

5. Publicize and Plan an Organizational Meeting

Be sure that the organizational meeting is publicized well in advance. Post signs, make announcements, and encourage teachers to “talk it up” in their classes. At this meeting, you should continue to explain the FBLA program.

6. Conduct an Organizational Meeting

At this organizational meeting, chapter officers may be elected. Suggested officers are president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and reporter. The chapter may also want a historian and parliamentarian.

Your members must also decide on the dues for the year. State and national dues are listed on the current membership forms. Local dues are optional; however, you will need funds in your treasury as you begin chapter activities. Before the members leave this meeting, be sure they sign a membership list if they are interested in joining. This will give you an idea of how many students are interested. Follow-up is critical!

7. Work with Newly Elected Officers and Committees

After the organizational meeting, the treasurer should start collecting dues from interested students. The treasurer may have to contact some students personally and encourage them to pay their dues by the deadline. After the dues are paid, the treasurer should prepare a membership list.

Select at least three committees: Constitution, Fundraising and Installation Ceremony. Additional committees may be formed as needed. These committees will make starting an FBLA chapter much easier for the adviser. Involve your new members as soon as possible!

The constitution committee should write a constitution modeled on the state constitution. After the constitution is written, the entire membership will need to adopt it at a chapter meeting. The fundraising and installation ceremony committees should also work on their plans for upcoming projects. Be sure every chapter member is functioning as an officer, committee chairperson or an active committee member.

8. Submit Items to the FBLA National Office

As directed in the packet received from the state or national office, the following items should be sent to the FBLA National Office:

- An application for charter;
- A list of members;
- A list of elected local chapter officers if available at the time of charter;;
- A check for state dues, national dues and national charter fee.

9. Plan and Conduct an Installation Ceremony

The installation ceremony is usually a formal, candlelit ceremony. At this time the chapter's charter is issued and your officers are installed by members of another active FBLA chapter.

One of the first things you must do as you start planning your ceremony is to set a time and place. Usually a night during the week in the school auditorium or cafeteria serves the purpose. You may like to consider a business site to provide a professional setting and to strengthen your partnerships. You should invite a guest speaker, either from FBLA or from the local community, that you feel will establish the enthusiasm for a successful beginning for your chapter. Invite teachers, CTE Leadership, your administration, your school board, an advisory committee, parents and people from the media. Be sure to have the installation ceremony publicized. At the conclusion of the program, leave time for refreshments and socializing.

10. Plan and Conduct Additional Activities

Some project or activity should be started as soon as possible after the official chapter installation ceremony to avoid losing any enthusiasm. Utilize resources available through the state and national associations for additional activities and projects to keep students involved within the chapter. Start making plans for the regional, state and national leadership conferences. Continue working with neighboring FBLA chapters and with your advisory committee. Keep your media people informed of all chapter activities. Keep your members busy and happy! Good Luck!

Contact the FBLA national office (800-325-2946) for the Chapter Management Handbook, which would be extremely beneficial in the establishment and management of your chapter.

Chaperone Policy

Due to the necessity of appropriate supervision for the safety of our students (based on new DPI volunteer policies), coupled with the sheer size of the Wisconsin FBLA conference, the number of competitive events, tough economic times for business and industry and availability of other types of volunteers, the following policy is being implemented.

Each FBLA Chapter attending a WFLC, Regional or State Leadership Conference will be REQUIRED to have a 15:1 ratio of students to advisers/chaperones. This ratio is based on the registered members on the final day of registration for either the Regional or State Leadership Conference. Any student participation in excess of 15 students will require an additional chaperone.

ALL FBLA Advisers will be assigned to administer at least one competitive event/performance, workshop or tour. In addition, your chaperone(s) will be assigned to at least one competitive event/performance, workshop or tour. The chaperones will be assigned duties such as timer, tour chaperone, workshop facilitator or room monitor. Every effort will be made to not allow overlapping event assignments for advisers and chaperones.

Names of advisers and chaperones will need to be submitted during the RLC/SLC Registration process.

2017 Competitive Events Listing by Grade

Prejudged Projects with Presentation

RLC/SLC Overview: Refer to National Competitive Event Guidelines for overview, eligibility, registration and guidelines. RLC & SLC modifications are noted in this Wisconsin Competitive Event Guide.

- 3-D Animation (individual or team of 2 or 3 members)
- Coding & Programming (individual)
- Computer Game & Simulation Programming (individual or team of 2 or 3 members)
- Digital Video Production (individual or team of 2 or 3 members)
- E-Business (individual or team of 2 or 3 members)
- Mobile Application Development (individual or team of 2 or 3 members)
- Website Design (individual or team of 2 or 3 members)

RLC/SLC Eligibility

- Each local chapter may submit one (1) entry.
- Competitors must have paid FBLA state dues by November 15 of the current school year.
- Between the RLC and SLC, or between the SLC and NLC, in the case of an unforeseen situation, one (1) team member may be substituted with the approval of the State Office. Failure to discuss this change with the State Office could result in team disqualification.
- Only high school members are permitted to participate in high school RLC/SLC events. Individuals registered nationally as middle level members are only permitted to participate in the middle level RLC/SLC events.

RLC/SLC Registration

- Participants must be registered for the RLC/SLC and pay the conference registration fee in order to participate in competitive events.
- Beginning in the 2016-2017 school year, any events materials not properly submitted by the deadline will result in the cancellation of conference registration and members(s) will not be permitted to attend the SLC.
- A member may enter only one (1) individual or team event and one (1) chapter event. Who's Who in FBLA, Future Business Educator, LifeSmarts, Microsoft Office Specialist Word/Excel, and Virtual Business Challenge does not count as an RLC/SLC event.

RLC/SLC Prejudged Project Guidelines

- The website must be available for viewing on the Internet at the time the Statement of Assurances Entry Form is submitted. No changes may be made to the website after the official entry date.
- Clarification for Computer Game & Simulation Programming: Participants will submit the URL in the Statement of Assurance Entry form and the URL will take the judge right to the game. Participants should upload their program on their school site or some other program hosting site, and provide a link for judges to access the game and run the program from the hosted site. This also serves the student as they can test the site themselves to make sure that it is functioning.
- The following Prejudged Projects with Presentation events will not have an RLC component and will only permit registration at the SLC Level.
  - 3-D Animation
  - Coding & Programming
  - Computer Game & Simulation Programming
  - Mobile Application Development

RLC/SLC Presentation Guidelines

- A minimum of one (1) member of the prejudged project must be in attendance for the presentation.
- All team members in attendance must participate in the presentation.
- Failure to present the project will result in disqualification.
- Digital Video Production, E-Business and Website Design results at the RLC will be based only on the prejudged project. There is no oral presentation competition component at the RLC.
- Prejudged Projects with Presentation events will be based upon prejudged reports if there are less than 10 entries. Presentations will only occur at the SLC if there are 10 or more entries in an event. The Wisconsin FBLA state office will notify the primary registered adviser if a presentation will not be scheduled at the SLC.
- Internet access will be provided at the SLC. Access may not be WIFI, so competitors should plan appropriately when selecting laptops/tablets on which to present. In the case that Internet Service is not available due to service issues, then presenters must be prepared to deliver alternative presentation content using backup methods. Competitors are responsible for bringing a copy of their project to show the judges.
- Chapters must provide their own audio/visual equipment, except screens.
- Presentation judges will not have access to a copy of the prejudged project and will judge the presentation of the project.
- All decisions of the judges are final.
- The SLC rating sheet(s) the judges will use are found in the Wisconsin Competitive Event Guidelines.

This document allows your officers and adviser to plan events that meet the needs of each member and follow the goals of FBLA. Program of Work forms can be found on the Wisconsin FBLA website. Each chapter's Program of Work is due to the State Office by December 1. An End-of-the-Year Report, outlining the successes of your chapter, should be submitted by May 1 of each year. # Chapter Ceremonies

Planned ceremonies heighten awareness of the importance and impact of an occasion. On the following pages are suggested formats for chapter installation and installation of officers.

For chapter installation, the following setting is often utilized: individual tables for four speakers representing the written words Future, Business, Leaders and America; one long rectangular table for the president, adviser or installing officer.

Many chapters have impressive candlelight services. Candles lend a soft light to the setting and symbolize sealing of pledges. Candles of various colors may be used to represent certain offices as specified in some of the services. The candle on the table of the installing official should be the tallest candle used.

Background music (especially if provided by the music department of the chapter's school) adds to the effectiveness of the ceremony. Appropriate music, media/computer generated visuals or other creative activities may be used throughout the entire ceremony or during certain parts of the program, such as during the reading of the creed or at the end of the program.

In more formal ceremonies, the officers and members may wish to dress appropriately. Otherwise, business attire is recommended.

Chapter Installation

Whenever possible, the installation ceremony should take place before a large group such as a school assembly, assembly of business students, or a special meeting to which parents and business people are invited. Members of the installation team should be seated on a stage or a raised platform.

Materials Needed:

One tall white candle

Shorter candles: one each in gray, green, violet, blue, yellow, orange and red

Official charter

Names of charter members

Installing Official:

(Standing) FBLA is a national organization for business students who are preparing for careers in business or business education. I have been authorized to conduct the installation of (school name) into the national organization Future Business Leaders of America.

Since the letters FBLA are used to designate the organization, its units and members, it is fitting that we consider what these letters and the words they represent mean to our organization.

Future:

Our daily educational experiences and our involvement in leadership activities prepare us for the future—a time to accept challenges.

In FBLA, we will find the tools to prepare for the future. We will profit from the experiences of others, those who have preceded us, as well as our teachers and others with whom we associate. Our studies and activities will help us meet changing conditions and further our understanding of the world's varied economic systems.

Business:

We realize the importance of education and training in business methods and procedures. We appreciate the roles of business and education in our daily lives.

Leaders:

The future of our country depends on the quality of leadership. Leadership implies honor, foresight, tact, competence, dependability, discretion and integrity. A leader must listen, withstand criticism and be flexible. A leader accepts failure in stride but is willing to profit from it. As members of FBLA, it is our duty to prepare for the enormous responsibility of business leadership in the years ahead.

America:

If America is to remain a world leader, intelligent young men and women are needed to guide our country by studying America's past and analyzing her present. The initiative and success of leaders in business will help shape the future of America. Through FBLA, we will strive for leadership in the field of business, thereby helping to strengthen America.

(Suggestion: At this point in the ceremony, it may be helpful to provide a brief history of FBLA.)

Our organization has a definite and worthwhile list of goals. I should like to ask (name of assistant installing officer or member of installation team) to read these goals. (See FBLA Goals on page 1.)

Assistant Installing Official: (Standing, reads the goals)

(The newly elected president is called forward and, with a few appropriate remarks, the installing official presents the gavel to the new president who closes the meeting.)

Integrating FBLA into the Curriculum

In an attempt to share ideas on how FBLA can and should become a part of the school day and the business education curriculum, the following ideas are offered to assist with this implementation.

It should be indicated that every chapter, every adviser and every member may suggest new ideas that should become a part of the instructional program. Use the suggestions to build your chapter and create an interest in the organization of, by and for students enrolled in business education programs.

Why not try a few of these ideas?

1. For keyboarding warm-up exercises, supply students with items that contain current information about the activities of FBLA.
2. Consider the various educational reports and initiatives and make every effort to provide students, during their FBLA activities, the opportunity to develop the skills and competencies mentioned as critical— decision making, problem solving, listening, team building, etc. You may want to:
  - a. work with your local chamber and/or economic development people on a project for the community;
  - b. assist with a local business expansion project;
  - c. help with developing brochures and other items for community need;
  - d. work with other civic organizations in helping with one or more community need
3. Monitor and evaluate the activities based upon the specific competency and skill development expected for both the chapter and individual members.
4. Have your chapter and members volunteer to use their computer skills (desktop publishing, data entry, etc.) on behalf of other school groups and community organizations. Develop creative and innovative materials in preparing and printing programs, as well as actually doing the planning and printing for FBLA conferences, meetings, workshops and more.
5. Provide for MAD (Meet and Discuss) opportunities for your members to “brainstorm” how they feel they can utilize what they are learning within their classrooms through FBLA activities. Perhaps have a single concern (e.g., serving single parent children, civic pride, environmental issues, bicycle safety) to keep student discussion “focused.”
6. Assist with writing/keying business plans for entrepreneurs who are attempting to acquire capital. Formatting, graphics and other needs could be completed by the students—while learning more of the process of developing a new business venture. Ethics and confidentiality would also be part of the learning process.
7. Assist a local business, as a fundraising possibility, to enter data and/or information—could include a business consulting firm that needs brochures developed, curriculum keyed, mailers and/or surveys completed, etc.
8. As part of your automated accounting curriculum, have students develop ways to automate your FBLA accounting procedures.
9. When requesting a variety of assigned correspondence within various curriculum, i.e., memos, letters, surveys, telephone skill development, follow up, e-mail, facsimile, etc., complete needed FBLA responsibilities as part of the learning process.
10. Provide a “seminar” for local businesses and civic groups in using proper parliamentary procedures for specific business meetings. Many skills would be needed by the chapter members and would include planning, scheduling, program/agenda development and more. Could work with other local professionals or civic groups in the hosting of this activity.

11. Host “career times” for students which could include: “mock interviews” by local business people, round table discussions of new and emerging careers, how to put together “resumes that work,” and more. Could invite chapter members, other students of school and community people who need help in changing careers.
12. Utilize computer records management concepts for keeping track of all FBLA correspondence.
13. Consider co-hosting a “Business After 5” meeting with a local business and/or chamber. Most communities have a process for involvement in this type of activity through chambers or economic development groups.
14. Establish “consulting teams” of members within your chapter and provide them with ongoing challenges that confront your chapter, school, community, etc.
15. Continue the current initiatives (Tech Prep, Applied/Integrated Instruction, Cooperative Learning and much more) in developing creative and effective ways to enhance the skills and knowledge through a variety of FBLA activities.

Chapter Meeting Time

If your chapter is unable to meet before or after school, these suggestions might be helpful.

A. One Day Per Week Activity Period, Scattered Scheduling

For schools that provide various student organization opportunities for their students, an activity period brings benefits not only to the success of the chapters or clubs, but to the individual members. Time set aside can be used effectively when the cooperation of all instructors and personnel is prevalent.

Try this procedure:

- A1. Advisers of all chapters or clubs determine how many times their groups should meet to operate the groups effectively. Remember, determine how many GENERAL MEETINGS—at this stage, do not plan committee or officer meetings. Some meetings may be beneficial to be held off school grounds, i.e., brown bag lunch at a business site, meet in a professional setting at a corporate office or other appropriate learning environment.
- A2. Submit the meeting time requirements to a main coordinator. This coordinator will then prepare a schedule for the entire school year and/or semester.
- A3. One day per week (may vary from month to month) serves as the meeting day. From there the specific class time used is determined. For an example, Friday fourth hour is shortened 20 minutes (activity period). Another Friday second hour may be shortened 20 minutes. In this way, no class is interrupted more than once a quarter in most cases.
- A4. If students do not wish to participate in an organization meeting, the student stays in the classroom and works on homework, independent study or special assignments.
- A5. A schedule set up at the beginning of the year is an advantage for all. Instructors know when their class will be shortened (the EXACT day, date and time). Their curriculum plans can then reflect the adjustments without much difficulty.
- A6. The organization planning to meet should plan ahead—perhaps invite a special resource person to the meeting or plan details for a particular project.
- A7. Encourage all to attend meetings; attendance should be taken.
- A8. When the schedule is known at the beginning of the year, students and advisers can plan the entire year/semester program of work centered on those meetings.
- A9. Committee meetings can be called when the need arises. In this case, committee members can plan smaller meetings “on their own” (after school, before school, during lunch, in the evening or weekends at home or some other meeting place).
- A10. Officers can meet independently or with the adviser(s) to prepare for the general meetings. All business can be prepared for presentation during the activity period meetings.
- A11. Depending upon school policies, building principals can be of assistance when an instructor must leave his/her class to attend a meeting during the activity period. Don't just communicate to the administration—involve them!
- A12. If implementation is feasible, more than 20 minutes set aside for this activity period each week would prove even more beneficial.
- A13. Any one group cannot meet more than once a month. This does not include committee meetings. Proper planning will ensure proper use of this class time set aside for student activities.
- A14. Special consideration should be given in determining which meetings are scheduled opposite each other. For example, not more than four meetings at once should be a consideration. Some students will be members of more than one group. Two or more career and technical student organizations should not meet opposite each other. It may be feasible for a combination such as the following to be in operation:
  - Library Club
  - Booster Club
  - One Career and Technical Student Organization
  - Letter Club
- A15. For this idea to be successful, the administration, students and instructors must all be aware of the NEED for this important part of the school's curriculum offerings. To keep the operation moving ahead, be sure to share with all people concerned how the plan is working—or why it is not. Seek solutions and determine from any problems what the most advantageous procedures prove to be.

B. Last Hour Activity Period

Some schools have realized tremendous success with scheduling the last hour of class every day or, on a more scattered schedule, to be the time set aside for chapter or club meetings. Let us take a brief look at the advantages and disadvantages of this idea:

- B1. Members of the chapter know the exact time and date of their meetings well in advance. Plans can be made to attend and use the time slot to its full advantage.
- B2. Many, or in some cases all, students are in attendance at the school during the last hour of the school day. Attendance at the chapter meetings is thus encouraged as it conflicts with few other schedules.
- B3. It may be probable, however, that some students are permitted to leave sometime during the day for their work experiences. In that case, those students would miss the business conducted at these meetings and would experience great difficulty in retaining an active role within the chapter.
- B4. All students would not choose to be members of a particular organization. In that case, they would either have to be scheduled for study hall or lab, permitted to leave school or some other alternative. This flexibility would cause opposition to the last hour activity period attendance as many times “finishing” the school day a little early sounds more satisfying than attending a meeting.
- B5. All groups would be meeting at the same time for some schools. Therefore, students would experience difficulties attending all meetings for any one organization if they were members of more than one.
- B6. One advantage of the last hour activity period would be that if more than the time set aside was needed, many members may find it possible to stay at the school longer. They would not be asked to report to another class at the end of the activity period.
- B7. With the cooperation of the school administration, students and all instructors, the last hour activity period can be adjusted to accommodate the needs of most schools and their organizations.

C. Homeroom Activity Period

The homeroom activity period has many of the same advantages and disadvantages as the last hour activity period. However, let us note its variation:

- C1. It could be assumed that more students would be at the school for homeroom than for the last period of the day. Therefore, attendance at the organization meetings should consequently be larger.
- C2. Students could be given the option of attending an organization meeting or homeroom. For the meetings to be effective, though, the school should consider an activity period of at least 20 minutes or more. For students and instructors in the “regular” homeroom, the time could be used for a variety of purposes—studying, preparing curriculum resources, etc.
- C3. If every organization turned in a list of its members in attendance to the school office following the homeroom activity period, it would be possible to still determine which students were in attendance at the start of the day. To ease the work load of the school administrative secretary, organizations should maintain an up-to-date list of members for the secretary and only turn in a report of who was NOT present, just as is done for regular classes. Most schools could identify the quickest and most accurate procedure for all concerned.
- C4. An important point for the homeroom activity period concept: Difficulty is again experienced in selecting which meeting to attend. All organizations would again be meeting simultaneously.
- C5. Variations of the homeroom activity period concept are feasible. Spend time analyzing the idea to adapt it to your school’s needs.

D. Midday Activity Period

Once again, the mid-day activity period faces many of the same good and bad points as do the last hour and homeroom periods. A few more advantages:

- D1. With even more students still at the school during midday, more students would be available for organizational meetings.
- D2. Resource persons, speakers and guests may find it more convenient to come to the school at this time of day rather than early morning or late afternoon

- D3. The midday activity period could be planned either before or after the lunch period; thus, encouraging students to conduct pre-meeting or post-meeting discussions related to activities or projects of their organization.

E. Committee Concept

Let us presuppose that an activity period cannot be implemented into your school day. Let's further assume that it is extremely difficult for the chapter to meet as a full group before school, after school, in the evening or on weekends. One point is still prevalent: The students deserve the opportunities available through membership in the organization! We, therefore, must plan a chapter structure based on the "committee concept."

- E1. Develop a program of work at the beginning of the year. Base its format on committee responsibilities, however large or small any one committee may need to be.
- E2. Involve all members in a minimum of one committee.
- E3. Provide the leadership and communication process necessary to explain, in detail, exactly what each and every member is expected to do as integral segments of any one committee.
- E4. Provide encouragement and guidance to assist the committee chairperson in accomplishing the task he/she is expected to do.
- E5. Identify IN DETAIL the duties and responsibilities of the officers.
- E6. Encourage committees to meet independently at times that meet the schedules of those particular members.
- E7. Encourage chapter officers to do the same.
- E8. The adviser should receive written (or verbal) reports from each working group on the progress of committee work. Assistance should be given if it is needed. The adviser should be prepared to offer suggestions on other individuals who could provide further direction if this applies to the situation. One example would be a committee working on a March of Dimes walk-a-thon—refer the committee to a particular individual who is employed by MOD to assist our FBLA members with their project(s).
- E9. The members should also receive up-to-date progress reports. These reports can be disseminated via homeroom, student mailboxes, one central location (FBLA desk in business education room), on or near the FBLA bulletin board or through a computer network system.
- E10. Most projects (such as the walk-a-thon) require the cooperation of the entire membership. With committee leadership conducted effectively, the end product is the day of the walk-a-thon—everyone prepared and ready to walk. This brings the entire membership together, although the planning was a product of committee work.
- E11. When a committee plans a field trip, special evening meeting with a speaker, video or demonstration, the entire membership should be informed and asked to attend. These could include a "cooperative meeting" with another organization such as a civic group. They then serve as the chapter's full-group meeting.

HOW TO CONDUCT A MEETING

Parliamentary procedure assists in preparing for leadership in the world of work. Regardless of the vocation people choose, they owe it to themselves and their chosen field of work to demonstrate their full potential of leadership qualities.

By learning to develop and present their own ideas through parliamentary procedure, members become more effective leaders and/or participants.

PURPOSES AND PRINCIPLES

The purposes of parliamentary procedure are:

1. To enable the deliberative assembly (a gathering of individuals with similar interests) to conduct business with efficiency and harmony.
2. To protect the rights of each individual.

Accordingly, there are some basic principles to consider in achieving the above purposes:

1. Only one person may claim the attention of the meeting at one time.
2. Many motions are debatable. See the "Book."
3. Every member has equal rights; i.e., the right to vote.
4. The will of the majority must be carried out and the rights of the minority will be preserved.

SUGGESTED ORDER OF BUSINESS FOR A CHAPTER MEETING - "What's on the Agenda?"

Most groups establish a basic order of business for meetings. Below is a suggested order if your chapter has not adopted a standard order of business:

1. Call the meeting to order:
"The meeting will come to order."
2. Recite Creed
3. Read and approve secretary's minutes
"The secretary will read the minutes of the last meeting."
"Are there any corrections to the minutes?"
"There being no corrections, the minutes will stand approved as read."

OR

If there are corrections: "Are there any further corrections to the minutes?" After corrections are made, "There being no further corrections, the minutes will stand approved as corrected."

4. Treasurer's report
After the report is presented by the treasurer, the chair asks: "Are there any questions on the treasurer's report? (Pause for questions, if any.) The treasurer's report will be placed on file for audit."
5. Officer and standing committee reports
The presiding officer and committee chairpersons should inform each other in advance of the meeting as to whether a particular committee will report. For those wishing to do so, the chair simply calls on the chairpersons of the committees for their reports in the order in which the committees are listed in the bylaws (if they are standing committees) or in the order of their creation (if they are special committees). "The ___ committee will now report."
6. Special committee reports

7. Unfinished business

The chairperson does not ask for unfinished business. All items of unfinished business are a matter of record (postponed from the previous meeting or not reached on the agenda of the last meeting before adjournment) and therefore the chair automatically mentions such items without asking. "The motion to purchase a computer was postponed to this meeting. Is there any further discussion on the motion...?" (State motion exactly as moved at previous meeting.)

8. New business

"Is there any new business?"

(Members may propose new business. Each proposal must be disposed of before a new one is considered.)

9. Program

10. Announcements

11. Adjournment

When the agenda has been concluded, the chair may declare the meeting adjourned by general consent without taking the time for a formal motion and vote. "Is there any further new business?" (Pause for any main motions on new business.) "Since there is no further new business, the meeting will be adjourned." (Pause for announcements, etc.) After pause, "The meeting is adjourned."

MOTIONS

A motion is a formal proposal by a member, in a meeting, that the assembly take certain action. There are generally four classifications of motions.

A main motion is a motion whose introduction brings business before the assembly. Only one main motion may be considered at a time.

A privileged motion does not relate to the pending business but has to do with special matters of immediate and overriding importance which, without debate, should be allowed to interrupt the consideration of anything else.

A subsidiary motion may be applied to a main motion and to certain other motions, for the purpose of modifying them, delaying action upon them or otherwise disposing of them. Since they relate to the question before the house, it is "in order" to propose a subsidiary motion when a main motion is still before the assembly. Always vote upon subsidiary motions before main motions.

An incidental motion arises out of a pending motion. It is usually related to the main question in such a way that it must be decided immediately, before business can proceed. An incidental motion may also sometimes arise out of another motion or item of business.

HOW TO MAKE A MOTION

1. Member rises to address the presiding officer by title:

(Chair is used only if the presiding officer has no other title.) "Mr. (or Madam) President" or "Mr. (or Madam) Chair."

2. Member is recognized by the presiding officer:

Chair states member's name or nods. The member "has the floor" and is the only member entitled to present or discuss a motion at this time.

3. Member proposes a motion:

Introduce the motion by saying, "I move that..." followed by a statement of the proposal. The motion is not to be discussed until it has been seconded by someone and stated in full by the presiding officer.

4. Member seconds the motion:

Another member, without rising or addressing the chair, may say, "I second the motion." If no one seconds the motion, the chair may ask, "Did the chair hear a second to the motion?" If there is none, declare, "The motion is lost for want of a second."

5. The presiding officer states the motion in full:

When the motion has been properly made and seconded, the chair repeats it to the group or "states the motion."

6. The members discuss or debate the motion:

After the motion has been stated by the chair, any member may discuss it. The member must be recognized by the chair as did the maker of the motion. The maker of the motion is recognized first if he/she wishes to speak.

7. The presiding officer takes the vote on the motion:

When all members have finished discussing the motion, the chair "puts the motion to a vote." The chair should ask, before taking the vote, "Is there any further discussion?" If no one wishes to speak, the discussion is closed. The chair will take the vote by announcing, "All in favor of the motion (STATE THE MOTION) say 'Aye'." Following response from the members, the chair says, "Those opposed say 'No'." If the chair cannot tell from the volume of voices which way the majority has voted, he/she says: "The chair is in doubt. Those in favor of the motion please rise." After counting, he/she says, "Be seated. Those opposed, rise. Be seated."

8. The presiding officer announces the result of the vote:

The chair states, "The ayes have it and the motion is carried" or "The noes have it and the motion is lost." As soon as the vote has been announced by the chair, another motion is in order.

AMENDMENTS - "How to Change a Motion"

The purpose of an amendment is to modify the wording of a pending motion before the pending motion itself is acted upon. An amendment must always be germane; that is, it must have direct bearing on the motion in question. Some motions are not amendable.

There are three basic ways to amend:

To insert or add words or a paragraph. This adds something to the motion which it previously did not include.

1. To strike out words or a paragraph. This deletes or eliminates something which was initially included in the motion.
2. An indivisible combination of ways (1) and (2) having the following terms:
To strike out and insert (which applies to words).
To substitute (which is not applied to anything less than a complete paragraph of one or more sentences).

There are two types of amendments:

1. Amendment of the first degree, which is an amendment to the main question.
2. Secondary amendment (or amendment of the second degree), which is an amendment to the amendment. (Secondary amendments must modify and relate directly to the primary amendment and not to the main motion.)
No amendment beyond one of the second degree is possible.

When you want to change a motion that is on the floor, you say "I move to amend the motion by (and state your change precisely)."

ORDER OF VOTING

Amendments are voted upon in reverse order; that is, secondary amendments must be voted on before primary amendments and the primary amendment must be disposed of before the question of the main motion may be considered.

1. The amendment to the amendment (secondary) is discussed (if necessary) and voted on.
2. After discussion (if necessary) the vote is taken on the amendment to the motion (primary). If the secondary amendment passed, then the primary amendment as amended is considered.
3. After discussion (if necessary) the original motion as amended is voted on. If the primary amendment passed, the vote is taken on the main motion as amended.

NOMINATING AND ELECTING OFFICERS

To nominate a person for an office in your chapter, a member presents the person's name to the meeting by saying, "I nominate for the office of _."

1. Nominations from the floor.

Nominations do not require a second. As a nomination is made, the chairman repeats it and the secretary records it. No member may nominate more than one candidate for each office until all who wish to make a first nomination have had an opportunity to do so. If there are no further nominations, the chair declares the nomination closed.

A motion to close nominations is not a necessary part of the election procedure and should not generally be moved. If such a motion is made, it always requires a two-thirds vote.

2. Nominations by nominating committee.

If there is a nominating committee, it prepares a slate of candidates which it presents to the assembly. The names are then treated as if they had been nominated from the floor.

Further nominations may be made from the floor.

3. Voting on nominations.

After the nominations are closed, members vote upon the names by the method prescribed in the chapter's bylaws.

Always refer to the most recent version of Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised.

Glossary of Basic Parliamentary Terms

Adjourn - to close the meeting when no motion is pending and there is no further business

Amend - a motion to modify the wording—and within certain limits the meaning—of a pending motion before the pending motion itself is acted upon

Appeal - to determine the assembly's attitude toward a ruling made by the chair

Call for the Orders of the Day - a privileged motion by which a member can require the assembly (1) to conform to its agenda, program or order of business; or (2) to take up a general or special order that is due to come up at that time

Chair - applies both to the person presiding and his/her station in the hall from which he/she presides.

Commit - generally used to send a pending question to a relatively small group of selected persons—a committee—so the question can be investigated and put into better condition for the assembly to consider

Debate - discussion of the merits of a motion

Division of a Question - to divide a motion so that the parts of it may be considered separately

Division of the Assembly - When a member doubts the result of a voice vote or a vote by show of hands, the member can call for a Division of the Assembly, thereby requiring the vote to be taken again by rising.

Lay on the Table - to enable the assembly to lay the pending question aside temporarily when something else of immediate urgency has arisen.

Limit or Extend Debate - to limit debate by reducing the number or length of speeches or requiring that at a certain time debate shall be closed; to extend the limits of debate by allowing more and longer speeches

Nominate - to suggest names to be considered for office

Obtain the Floor - To obtain the floor, the member rises and addresses the chair. When the chair calls on the member, he or she can speak.

Parliamentary Inquiry - a question directed to the presiding official to obtain information on parliamentary law or the rules of the organization bearing on the business at hand. "Mr. (or Madam) President, I rise to Parliamentary Inquiry."

Point of Information - a request directed at the chair or through the chair to another officer or member, for information relevant to the business at hand but not related to parliamentary procedure

Point of Order - calls attention to violation of parliamentary procedure. The member says, "Mr. (or Madam) President, I rise to a point of order." The chair may say, "Your point of order is sustained," or "Your point of order is denied."

Postpone Definitely or to a Certain Time - the motion by which action on a pending question can be put off, within limits, to a definite day, meeting or hour or until after a certain event

Postpone Indefinitely - a motion that the assembly decline to take a position on the main question. Its adoption kills the main motion and avoids a direct vote on the question.

Previous Question - a motion to bring an immediate vote on one or more pending questions, thereby ending debate. "Mr. (or Madam) President, I move the previous question."

Raising a Question of Privilege - permits a request or main motion relating to the rights and privileges of the assembly or any of its members to be brought up for possible immediate consideration because of its urgency

Recess - a short intermission in the assembly's proceedings that does not close the meeting and after which business will immediately be resumed at exactly the point it was interrupted

Reconsider - to bring back for further consideration a motion that has already been voted on. The member moving to reconsider must have voted on the prevailing side of the question to be considered. The making of this motion is subject to time limits.

Rescind - to cancel or countermand a previous action

Suspend the Rules - When an assembly wishes to do something it cannot do without violating one or more of its regular rules, it can adopt a motion to suspend the rules.

Take from the Table - to make pending again a motion or series of adhering motions that previously had been laid on the table

Minutes of a Meeting

The record of the proceedings in a regular business meeting is called the "minutes."

An accurate record of a business meeting is essential to insure members' rights. The secretary's minutes should always record what was done at the meeting and what was said. Opinions, favorable or otherwise, should not be recorded.

The first paragraph of the minutes should contain the following items:

- date, time and place
- kind of meeting—regular or special
- name of person presiding
- name of organization
- name of secretary
- approval of the minutes of the previous meeting

The body of the minutes should contain (with a separate paragraph for each subject):

- all main motions whether adopted or rejected exactly as stated
- names of the members making the motions; the name of the seconder need not be recorded
- all points of order and appeals whether sustained or lost accompanied by the reasons

The last paragraph should include:

- hour of adjournment
- written signature of the secretary; the words "respectfully submitted" should not be used

Treasurer's Report

At each meeting the president may ask for a "treasurer's report." This report may consist of a statement of the cash balance on hand. Such a report requires no action by the assembly but should be placed on file for audit.

A suggested form for a treasurer's report would include the following:

- balance report at the previous meeting
- a list and explanation of receipts/expenses
- the current balance

For further information, consult Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised.

The regular meeting of the Happyland FBLA Chapter was called to order at 10:25 a.m., December 4, in Room 777 by President Mary White. The secretary was present. The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read.

The treasurer reported a new balance of $781.25. The report was placed on file for audit.

Service committee chair, Lee Gray, reported that the canned items collected at the last meeting were distributed Thanksgiving Day to the selected families.

Sales committee chair, Karen Blue, stated that all items from the sales kit had been received and picked up for delivery by the members.

Jim Green reported on moneys earned while assisting with inventory for Pleasant Company during Professional Week.

The motion to "purchase a camera with chapter funds" was taken from the table. After discussion, the motion passed. A committee of three consisting of Ed Black, Sue Redd and Lynn Brown was chosen to purchase the camera.

Kathy Tanner moved that "the members make Christmas cards for residents of the Smiling Face Retirement Home." Bob Blackburn moved to amend the motion by adding the words "and fruit baskets" after the word "cards." The motion and amendment passed. All members would assemble in Room 711 next Friday evening at 7:00 p.m. to assemble the baskets and compose the cards using our computers.

The motion "to hold a bake sale on Thursday before the Christmas program" was proposed by Cindy Greene. The motion passed. Members were asked to leave all baked goods in Room 123.

Our advisers, Miss Greatperson and Mr. Niceguy, stated that there were several announcements posted on the bulletin board and in the computer network system and to read them before the end of the week.

CHAPTER ACTIVITIES

The projects listed have all been used successfully by one or more FBLA chapters. Variations to these activities can also be employed; but it should be remembered that the more members involved in a project or participating in an activity, the more successful it will be. Remember also, when selecting project ideas, to vary the types of activities—service, educational, inter-chapter, fund raising and recreational.

It is also important to keep in mind the diversity of your members and to be sure to accommodate the special needs of all when planning activities.

SERVICE PROJECTS

Chapter service projects provide an opportunity for students' participation within the community. Involvement in such projects represents a planned gift of time and/or money made by your chapter to benefit the community. Service projects are important if they are well planned and implemented. Service projects can strengthen your chapter and chapter members. As they work together they become aware of themselves, their responsibilities as citizens and their roles as future business leaders. Students will recognize that business also plays an important role in meeting the service needs of the community.

With so many possibilities, it may not be easy to decide upon what service project to give your focus. Take the time, thought and discussion in order to reach a final decision.

Know your community and what is really needed. Then have your members choose the project they feel will be of greatest service. Depending upon the project, it may be possible to work with another agency of the community, a nearby chapter and/or civic group.

Examples of service projects include:

Assisting with Community Projects:

- Computer training for senior citizens and/or others
- Collection of items for needy recipients (during holiday period)
- Holiday parties for various community groups
- Bike safety/rodeo (with local civic group and police)

Sponsoring March of Dimes (MOD) Projects (see following pages)

Contemporary activities involving local business/industry could involve shadowing, mentoring, field trips, etc. and would enhance current educational initiatives and curriculums.

March of Dimes Fund-Raising Ideas

- Auction: Auction off services of students, advisers
- Balloon Sale: Sell MOD balloons at shopping centers, parks
- Carnival: Have each club or class provide a fun or food booth
- Dance: Ask a disc jockey's help to line up talent, publicity
- Early bird Breakfast: Partner with vendor to sell "continental breakfast"
- Fashion Show: Work with vendors and foreign language club(s)
- Haunted House: Decorate and haunt an empty house for Halloween
- Jail and Bail: "Arrest" students, teachers, media—Raise funds for release
- Mini-walk: Short version of the Walkathon for the pre-schoolers
- Mystery Night: After the game concept, with prizes, etc.
- Nickelodeon Night: Arrange showings of popular old movies/cartoons
- Operation Jug: Clubs/classes fill gallon jars with money
- Quiz Game: Pattern your own after one of the TV shows
- Rock-A-Thon: "Sponsors" contribute
- Swim-A-Thon: "Sponsors" contribute
- Variety/Talent Show: Round up local talent, use disc jockeys
- Walkathon: The Biggest MOD activity; walkers get sponsors to contribute for each mile completed
- Year-End Ball: Dedicate the last dance of the year to March of Dimes

- Professional Day: Co-sponsor a professional seminar with community business(es) and technical college/university
- Creative: Start an “annual” activity “invented” by your members

EDUCATIONAL PROJECTS

FBLA is an integral part of the educational process. Educational activities are tools of instruction which reinforce what the students learn in the classroom and/or on the job.

Examples of educational projects include:

- Business/Technology Seminars
- Career Days
- Chambers of Commerce, Civic and Service Organizations
- Display of Awards
- Field Trips
- International E-mail Project
- Internet Searches
- In-service Workshops
- Local Competitive Events
- Parliamentary Procedure Seminars
- PowerPoint Presentations
- Scholarships
- Speakers/Resource People

For ideas to incorporate FBLA educational activities into your classroom, refer to the section of this handbook, “Integrating FBLA into the Curriculum.”

INTER-CHAPTER PROJECTS

Inter-chapter projects and activities improve the effectiveness of FBLA and help students become more ready for the transition from school to work and/or postsecondary education.

Teamwork with other FBLA chapters can be fun while at the same time beneficial in developing good human relations.

Examples of inter-chapter activities include:

Dances
 E-mail exchanges
 Halloween party
 “Haunted House”
 March of Dimes Activities
 Mini conferences

Other school(s) invited to banquet
 Roller-skating & volleyball parties
 Speakers
 Travel together to conferences
 Web page design

FUNDRAISING PROJECTS

Fundraising projects, while challenging to develop, should be part of the learning process for FBLA members. Two primary reasons for a fund-raising project are to strengthen the efforts of a service project, and to add to the chapter's treasury for future events.

It takes hard work, time and thorough planning to carry out a successful fundraising project. Money-making projects are limited only by the willingness and imagination of the chapter members in planning and sponsoring their projects which requires the support of all members.

Examples of fundraising projects include:

Sales

- Food (Bake Goods, Candy, Cheese, Coffee/Donuts, Hot Dogs, etc)
- Freezer
- Fruit
- Garage
- Jewelry
- Pizza
- Plants
- Product (candles, kits)
- Handmade Holiday Gifts
- Skills of students and other Services
- Stationery

Other

- Assist civic group
- Assist with setting up computer programs
- Birthday Cakes
- Car washes
- Community calendars
- Concessions at events
- Dances
- Input data or word processing for others
- Internet
- Mailings (Labels)
- Raffles
- School store

RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES

All work and no play is certainly not a part of the FBLA philosophy. Provisions should be made for activities that provide recreation, socializing and just plain fun. However, it should be remembered that recreational activities may also be used to acquaint prospective members with business education and FBLA.

Examples of recreational activities:

- Banquets
- Holiday parties
- Parade floats
- Parent/student evening
- Picnics/Camping trip
- Recreational parties (roller-skating, bowling, ice skating, swimming, etc.)
- Staff Tea
- Tours
- Travel
- Treasure Hunt
- Y-Lock In

PUBLIC RELATIONS

Webster defines public relations as “the methods and activities employed in persuading the public to understand and regard favorably a person, business or institution; the degree of understanding and favorable regard achieved.”

Thousands of businesses spend millions of dollars each year on public relations. The first rule for successful public relations people is to be sold on their product and/or service. The same applies to members of the largest, most active and most productive Career and Technical Student Organizations interested in Business Education in the world! If you are proud of your organization, your chapter, yourself, then building community pride will be more likely through your actions. Good public relations start with each and every member. It is essential to have good public relations within your own chapter before you can “spread the word.”

FBLA does not stand apart from the life of your school or community. It is part of the community and should relate to it. One of the most important things FBLA members can learn is how to relate to others, to the community and to the businesses in which they work now and in the future.

WAYS TO GENERATE PUBLIC RELATIONS

Your chapter should involve and be involved with the school (other students, faculty and administration), with parents, with public officials in your community, with civic and other student organizations, with alumni (former FBLA members now assuming a role in the community), with media professionals and with business and industry leaders. The following list of suggestions may be of value in generating public relations.

Use nametags, pins, blazers or sweaters to identify FBLA members in a positive and professional manner.

- Publicize upcoming events. You may wish to develop a listing of local news media. Utilize your computer systems for networking and records management needs. Perhaps you can fax or e-mail press releases to selected media people.
- Develop and distribute literature and other materials at strategic times of the year about FBLA and Business Education to your community stakeholders (students, parents, school/district administrators, school board members, business partners, etc).
- Present programs about FBLA and about Business Education to civic and service groups in and around your community.
- Develop promotional exhibits around school and community.
- Display materials about FBLA in and out of school—superintendent’s office, Chamber of Commerce, guidance department, local businesses, etc.
- Provide pictures of FBLA activities and members for school newsletter and yearbook.
- Set up public bulletin board and showcase displays of chapter and individual awards and projects.
- Develop spot announcements, interviews and question/answer discussions for local radio and television and other appropriate media.
- Provide photographs, news releases, editorials, feature stories and letters to the editor for school and community newspapers.
- Make announcements about FBLA and Business Education in daily bulletins to student body.
- Invite community resource people to FBLA chapter meetings, banquets and Business Education classes and activities.
- Invite community resource people to participate on advisory committees or focus groups.
- Distribute certificates of deserved appreciation to individuals who contribute to FBLA and Business Education.
- Provide tokens of appreciation for a variety of school and community employees.
- Be active and positive members of a variety of volunteer activities not only as an individual, but as a representative of FBLA.

Wisconsin FBLA E-Bulletin

The elected state reporter's major responsibility is to publish Wisconsin's state newsletter, the Wisconsin FBLA e-Bulletin. The Wisconsin FBLA e-Bulletin (WFeB) contains articles submitted by local chapters, letters from local and state officers and general education material. It is a main responsibility of the local chapter reporter to write and submit these articles to the state reporter before the publication deadlines.

FBLA Week

Like any other activity, the success of FBLA Week depends on careful planning. Select your committees early and start making detailed arrangements for activities. Have a plan for each day of FBLA Week. Divide the responsibilities among several committees and members. Involve all members!

Valuable public relations media to use during the FBLA Week include the school website, newspapers, radio and television. News reporters are always looking for good news about students—so take advantage! Chapter members may get some ideas for FBLA Week activities from these suggestions:

- Obtain FBLA Week proclamation(s) from your mayor or governing official. Provide picture(s) and news stories for local media.
- Communicate with community leaders telling them about your chapter activities and plans for FBLA Week.
- Prepare a special FBLA exhibit for store windows, schools, libraries, airports, sports events, professional centers and offices, billboards, shopping centers and malls and other places where people gather.
- Contact civic and service organizations and make arrangements for members to appear on their programs. Use PowerPoint presentations, videos and other media to explain the purpose and value of FBLA and business education.
- Host an open house. Demonstrate what competencies are learned through classroom, on the job and FBLA learning opportunities.
- Conduct a tour of students' work sites to demonstrate to community residents how your Business Education curriculum extends beyond the classroom.
- Contact local businesses to sponsor advertising for a special FBLA section in the local newspaper. Work out the details with advertising professionals to provide an additional learning opportunity for members.
- Sponsor a guest speaker for all students.
- Invite recent graduates to attend a meeting and discuss with members their experiences in choosing a career, acquiring a position and using the skills and knowledge of Business Education.
- Select and install an honorary member into your chapter.
- Conduct a membership drive to increase the total number of involved members in your chapter—including alumni and professional members.
- Prepare and distribute a special FBLA newsletter. Share a copy of it with state staff.
- Design and display at least one FBLA Week bulletin board.
- Invite neighboring FBLA chapters to collaborate with your chapter in a recreational event—perhaps include other CTSO chapters to develop an “annual event.” They could include those within your school, local technical college and colleges and universities.
- Use a local or state FBLA video, PowerPoint or slide presentation at a general assembly or in classrooms. Have an FBLA officer available to answer questions from the audience.
- Host a coffee/tea hour after school for all school staff to distribute FBLA materials.

- Compose a survey and mail/e-mail to the other FBLA chapters in the state or region to determine their FBLA Week activities. Implement those that you feel fit your chapter and members' objectives and goals.
- Acquaint all community members with business education and FBLA by sponsoring a field trip for citizens. Be sure to plan for citizens who need mobility assistance.
- Make Valentine's Day tray favors using the FBLA emblem for hospitals and health care centers.
- Work with middle and elementary schools to promote FBLA.
