

ARTS & CREATIVITY EDUCATION

VOL. IX NUMBER 8

APRIL 2021

Performing / Presenting in the Arts

Newsletters from November through February have provided learning modules focused on the Wisconsin Standards for Art and Design, Dance, Music, and Theatre. Past newsletters contain modules in your content area for respond, connect, and perform/present. Click on the section of the circle image to participate within your content area standard of interest.

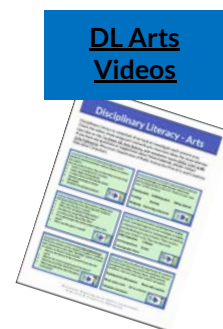

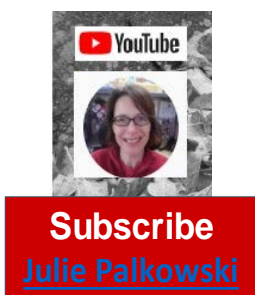

In this newsletter, we are investigating the standard “perform/present.” “Perform” is the standard explored in the content areas of dance, music, and theatre. “Present” is used in the art and design content area. Visit your content area module listed on the next page for the standard performance indicator activities. Each module uses several tools to engage participants virtually. I used Audacity, Pear Deck, and Google Slides to create the modules, modeling online options that may be useful in your work.

For continued learning, consider attending an Arts Ed PD session. Register online by clicking on this link. Thank you again for your work in arts education and for the suggestions offered for future modules and professional development sessions.

Wisconsin Standards – Perform/Present Modules

Visit the module of your arts area to investigate ideas on the standard “create.” Click on the image to participate in the interactive slides. The modules encourage participants to share ideas by writing, drawing, and sharing. If you have any questions about the modules or have suggestions for future learning tools or topics, please email julie.palkowski@dpi.wi.gov.
