Online Math PLC Community

The WI DPI Mathematics Google Community is a space where PK-16 mathematics educators can engage in a dialogue around practice and research by adding ideas through links, posts, and comments.

A breakdown of categories allows participants to narrow down what types of posts or resources they may be interested in. Members of the community are able to post requests, respond, or just sit back and access the resources and insight when possible.

There are a variety of other Google+ PLC Communities including English Language Arts to Project Based Learning and everything between. This is just one of the social media avenues available to interact with other educators around the state to build capacity and to ensure all students have access to high quality education.
