Frequently Asked Questions

1. What should schools do if they cannot find the school district for an address using the methods provided?

If you are not able to determine a student's resident school district using the methods provided, please contact the county clerk, city clerk or school district and request an email from them or a letter on their official letterhead stating the school district in which the address is located.

2. What documentation do schools need to keep for their records?

Schools should maintain a screen print or printout of the verification document that includes the address and school district for your auditor review.

3. What if the verification method only shows the school district number and not the school district name?

If only the school district number is identified, cross reference the school district name on the School District Domain Directory <http://dpi.wi.gov/gis/school-district-domain-directory> and write the school district name on the printout.

4. What parts of the parent's address must match the address on the school district verification document?

The following table includes the parts of an address and the requirements for each to match the school district verification documentation.

	Match Required?
Street Number	Yes
Street Direction (North, South, etc.)	Yes (abbreviations are allowed)
Street Name	Yes
Street Suffix (Lane, Road, Avenue, etc.)	Yes (abbreviations are allowed)
Unit/Apartment Number or Unit/Apartment Description (Upper, Lower, Unit E10, Apt 207, Lot 7, etc.)	No
City	Yes
State	Yes, if included (Wisconsin or abbreviation)
Zip Code	No

5. What if the apartment number, unit, lot number, etc. is not available from the documentation sources to verify which school district an address is located in?

For some properties (i.e. trailer parks, apartment buildings, etc.), the apartment number, unit number or trailer park lot number may not be available from the verification methods. It is not required that the apartment number, unit number or trailer park lot number be on the school district verification document.

6. Does the parent's name have to match the owner's name on the document used to verify the resident school district?

The name on the document the school uses to verify the address in which a school district is located does not need to match the parent name on the application. The purpose of the school district verification is to verify the school district in which an address is located. Schools complete a separate residency verification to verify that the parents reside at the address using the proof of residency documentation provided by the parents. Because some parents do not own their residence, their name may not be on the document used to verify the school district.

7. What if the parcel contains multiple properties and a different address comes up when you enter the parent's address?

For parcels that contain multiple properties (i.e. duplex, townhome complex, trailer parks, etc.), the address may have multiple street numbers in one parcel or have a main address with sub addresses. Schools should look at the county and city assessor web sites to try and connect the main parcel address to the parent's address. Some sites call these sub parcels or child parcels. Schools should keep documentation showing the main parcel address with the school district and the documentation connecting the sub or child parcel to the main parcel.

8. What if the school determines upon verification that the parent entered the incorrect school district for their address?

The school district should be changed if it is not correct.

Corrections are made as follows:

How to correct during the application period: The school should tell the parent to change the school district in the application and to re-submit the application.

How to correct after the application period is over: The school should email DPI with the following: student's legal name, student's date of birth, incorrect school district and correct school district. DPI will make the change in OAS and confirm back to the school when the change is completed.

Parent emails DPI: DPI will forward the email to the school, copying the parent, requesting the school to work with the parent to confirm the information. The school will then email DPI with a request to make a change if needed.
