While “40 minutes/week” or “one hour daily” are acceptable statements of amount and frequency, supplementary aids and services often need to be stated in terms of the circumstances under which they will be provided. For example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• “use a computer for writing assignments longer than one page,” or</li> <li>• “Give multiple choice tests in place of fill-in-the-blank tests in biology.”</li> </ul> Sometimes the IEP team decides a student’s self-advocacy skills need to be developed. They want to encourage the student to realize when he/she needs help and to ask for it. In this case, it is appropriate to include an annual goal to develop the behavior. However, in such a case it is not appropriate to state the amount and frequency of the service as “upon student request.” The IEP team must still decide the needed amount and frequency or the specific circumstances when the service is needed and include it in the IEP. Including this information in the IEP will make clear to those implementing the IEP what the student needs, even if the student doesn’t recognize the need and ask for the service.
