The Key to Unlocking

STUDENT POTENTIAL

Thriving Learning Communities™ (TLC) empowers educators to enable students to bring forth the strengths they need to reach their full potential.

TLC applies the science of character strengths to the practice of teaching and learning. Our research-based approach improves students’ social and emotional learning (SEL) skills by helping them identify their inherent strengths to build confidence, better adapt to change, and strengthen relationships to create a more positive school culture. Our unique approach combines the following four powerful elements:

The Science of Character

TLC helps students recognize and apply their unique combination of strengths to unlock their potential. This research-based approach to SEL provides a common language and an appreciative lens from which to build social and emotional learning skills that accelerate motivation and engagement; impacting student attendance, discipline and academic performance.

Transform Through SEL

By applying their individual strengths, the TLC program empowers educators to appreciate differences, increase a sense of belonging, and shape the environment in which students learn. Our transformative approach to SEL addresses the five interrelated sets of competencies: self-awareness, self-management, social awareness, relationship skills, and decision-making (CASEL, 2020).

The Flexibility You Need

Each school setting is different. Our extensive PK-12 print and digital resources equip educators to deliver interactive SEL activities, leading to new pathways of engagement, ultimately shaping school culture. TLC’s offerings provide flexible curriculum, professional practice tips, and family involvement resources that support the customization and innovation required in today’s changing landscape.

Professional Learning

Designed to meet the needs of today’s professionals, TLC provides a variety of options that equip educators with the knowledge, skills, and confidence to implement SEL curriculum and integrate a strength-based approach throughout the school day. We create school Champions that are equipped to customize the program, support their peers, and lead the transformation of their learning culture.

Create positive school cultures that expand student engagement, learning and performance.

| 19 Relationship Skills | Learners will be able to understand the perspective of others in a conflict situation. | Unit 1: Self-Awareness
The activities in this unit guide students in understanding their character strengths, looking at those characteristics that may make their needs different from peers.
  - Learn to identify and communicate more clearly about their thoughts and feelings (1-3)
Unit 2 Self-Management
The activities in this unit address the SEL tasks of regulating emotions, thoughts, and behaviors, by increasing students’ abilities to identify their emotions.
  - Manage and express feelings, thoughts, and behaviors in constructive ways in a variety of environments. (1-3)
Unit 3 Social Awareness
The activities in this unit focus on understanding social and cultural norms, taking the perspectives of others, and respecting and empathizing with others.
  - Use their own strengths to recognize social cues, deepen compassion, and enhance relationships. (1-3)

| 20 Decision Making | Learners will be able to, with guidance, generate possible choices and actions they could take in a given situation, including positive and negative options. | Decision-making, the fifth core-competency in CASEL’s presentation of SEL, is woven throughout the other four SEL competency areas in the TLC curriculum. As such, each unit has elements of decision-making and building students’ self-confidence in their decisions. When students can understand their thoughts, feelings and strengths they are more likely to have a positive belief system that will influence their relationships and decision making. (1-3)

| 21 Social Awareness | Learners will be able to demonstrate positive behaviors as established in classroom and school-wide expectations. | Unit 2: Self-Management
The activities in this unit address the SEL tasks of regulating emotions, thoughts, and behaviors, learning to cope with stress, and acquiring goal-setting skills. In developing self-management skills, students learn to regulate their emotions, thoughts, and behaviors in a variety of environments.
These skills give students the tools to organize key aspects of their lives, helping them become more successful.
  - Manage and express feelings, thoughts, and behaviors in constructive ways in a variety of environments. (1-2)
  - Use the strength of bravery to enhance self-confidence and pro-social behaviors (3) |
