Step 1

To create a survey, the following information is required: Title, Level, Start Date, and End Date. Once that information is entered, click the Save button at the bottom of the screen to generate a Survey ID. Note: Once the start date has passed or at least one participant has started the survey, only the ending date, school, and report viewers associated with this survey can be changed. Once the end date has passed, the survey cannot be changed, but report viewers can be added at any time.

Once a Survey ID is generated, the Save button will be replaced by an Update button. Also, a Copy Survey button is provided. The Copy Survey button allows users to create a new survey with the same questions as a previous survey. The schools or community groups and report viewers will not be copied.

Drive Achievement Through Resiliency™

Assessing Resiliency Skills to Predict Academic Challenges and Identify Students At-Risk for Academic Failure

 February 22, 2011

Why Resiliency?

33

When investigating social emotional factors that underlie academic performance, researchers have identified essential RESILIENCY skills that are scientifically linked to academic success.

 February 22, 2011

Six Critical Resiliency Skills

34

- 1 • Valuing the importance of education
- 2 • Academic confidence
- 3 • Strong connections with others
- 4 • Stress management
- 5 • Balanced sense of well-being
- 6 • Intrinsic motivation

 February 22, 2011

Assessing Resiliency

35

- Success Highways Resiliency assessment
  - Online delivery
  - Grades 6-12 (most often 7th - 10th grade)
  - 108 survey questions
  - About 20 minutes to complete
- Automated scoring tools and reports
- District, school, classroom, and individual results

 February 22, 2011

Assessing Resiliency to predict Academic Success or Failure

36

- Longitudinal research shows that our resiliency assessment provides a valid early warning indicator for future academic success or failure:
  - Success Profile and Risk Profile provides school and student level results for each resiliency skill
  - Academic Risk Index Score provides a composite measure of each student's risk level for future academic failure and likelihood of dropping out/failing

 February 22, 2011
